The Late 90's
Were A Time
Of Massive Change in Municipal Government

Change....

A provincial election in 1995 and a PC victory

- A platform of lowering taxes and reducing the provincial deficit
- A stated goal of reducing municipalities and municipal politicians
- A desire to disentangle policy responsibility between the province and municipalities

The end result was change upon change in what history will describe as a time period of significant restructuring across the province that affected almost every ministry and every intergovernmental institution

WEIGHTED ASSESSMENT

COST APPORTIONMENT

Agreement	Cost Apportionment Methodology
Land Ambulance	85% based on respective weighted assessment of the two municipalities, 15% based on geographic location of calls for service in relation to total calls for service.
Ontario Works	Each municipality is responsible for their respective program and administration costs incurred, with provincial funding allocated proportionately between the two municipalities based on caseload.
Housing Services	70% based on respective weighted assessment of the two municipalities, 30% based on geographic location of housing units in relation to total housing units.
Child Care	Each municipality is responsible for their respective costs incurred, with provincial funding allocations adjusted annually based on the overall change in the total provincial funding envelope provided to the CMSM.
